

School of the Wild

School of the Wild is an annual weeklong outdoor classroom experience for over 1200 students of the Iowa City Community School District. This program, facilitated by the University of Iowa Recreational Services, became the first accredited environmental school in the state of Iowa. This outdoor classroom experience is directly tied to the District's science curriculum and allows students to explore concepts taught in a real world setting. School of the Wild programming is supported financially through the ICCSD Foundation.
